	With due respect I have been forwarded by the Office of Chairman, IIT Delhi after I contacted them by E-mail regarding this question. However, it has been more than 2weeks I have not received any tickets/replies from IIT Hyderabad and other IITs. Since JEE Advanced 2023 will be conducted by IIT Hyderabad, On my own behalf I pose the following question(s) seeking enlightenment on them as soon as possible:	No Information Sought.
	1. If a student who has attempted JEE Advanced once or twice in the years following his/her 12th graduation, will the student be able to apply in the next year if (s)he applies for NIOS improvement and gets his/her new mark sheet dated the year 2023 in the 12th examination (by NIOS)?          for instance, if a student passed out from CBSE in 2021 with, say 85% aggregate applies for NIOS in 2022 and passes in 2023, will he be eligible for JEE Advanced and the admission in the IITs in 2023 with the new mark sheet?	IIT Hyderabad is not conducting JEE Advanced 2023. The details of eligibility criteria about JEE(Advanced) 2023 are not available in the records of IIT Hyderabad
	I have been getting such questions taking into consideration the impact of COVID on students who still desire admission in the IITs. Please cooperate to clarify them, hence deburdening the stress from students.          2. Is there 75% criteria in JEE Advanced 2023 for CBSE Students? considering the experiment done by CBSE on them?	IIT Hyderabad is not conducting JEE Advanced 2023. The details of eligibility criteria about JEE(Advanced) 2023 are not available in the records of IIT Hyderabad
	3. Is there anything in the Agenda for JEE Advanced 2023 regarding question (2) in the board of JEE Advanced at IITH          Thanking you for your kind consideration and seeking a credible reply,	IIT Hyderabad is not conducting JEE Advanced 2023.
